FRIDAYS 10/9c

Who wore it

SHE DID

JENNIFER HUDSON

Curve appeal

Joy Han, designer of the Voom line, says Jennifer's hourglass shape fills out her Escada gown well, and the off-the-shoulder style is alluring yet classic. On Law & Order: Criminal Intent actress Alicia, the fabric hangs straight on her slim frame and the different neckline has less sex appeal.

ALICIA WITT

SHE DID

KATE BOSWORTH

Pares down

To pull off a wild coat like this decadent Fendi one, actress Kate knows it's best to keep all accents simple, including hair and accessories. Supermodel Kate is famous for her eclectic style, but her loose hair, bling bag and scarf (worn as a belt) detract from the high-end design.

SHE DID

A flattering shape

The fit of this sporty dress is perfect on Dancing With the Stars' Sabrina — the top seam sits just under her bustline, highlighting her curves, while a short hem makes her legs look extra-long. Hairspray's Brittany flattens her figure by pulling the dress down.

BRITTANY SNOW

MOLLY SIMS

Lightens up

The intricate strips of fabric on this dress are what make it grand, so there's no need for Molly to try to amp up the drama with a brooch and layered necklaces. Paris creates a more streamlined look with a single piece of jewelry, and her matching satin heels are an elegant touch.

It's a Christmas

In addition to biking with Angelina on December 18, happy Brad has been riding his motorcycle in the French Quarter.

It was better than a sleigh ride

Brad and Angelina had Maddox and Zahara securely protected on their bike ride to view the holiday decorations in New Orleans' historic district.

miracle

THEY'RE FINALLY HOLDING HANDS

Brad loves living in the French Quarter. "It reminds me of my upbringing in Missouri," he says.

Last year they were abroad, but this year, Brad and the children bought a Christmas tree for their home.

As Angelina Jolie quietly celebrates in New Orleans, she lets her estranged father back into her life

It took two men to carry the enormous Christmas tree upstairs into the Jolie-Pitt home in New Orleans' French Quarter on December 18. But even as Angelina Jolie has settled in to prepare for a Southern-style holiday with all the trimmings, she was conscious about setting a good example for her children with Brad Pitt: Maddox, 6, Pax, 4, Zahara, 2, and Shiloh, 19 months.

"We'll spend Christmas morning with our children, make it special for them — and then we're going to spend the day helping others in need," Angelina revealed in Britain's Grazia magazine. "It's important to teach our children that it's not about what they're going to get, but it's about who they're going to think of."

She's trying harder

These days, Angelina is thinking even more about her family's needs. In many ways, Christmas in New Orleans was Angelina's holiday present to Brad. "She hates living in the States," says an insider. "She wants to spend time in What's on Angelina's mind?

Cambodia. But right now, it's too complicated finding accommodations for their entourage, so it's easier to stay in New Orleans."

That decision has made Brad very happy. "It's a great place for us," he said during a December 17 appearance on The Charlie Rose Show. "It gives us some semblance of a normal life."

She wants to forgive

After a tough year, which included the death of her beloved mother, Marcheline Bertrand, Angelina's trying to open up her heart to her father, Jon Voight. Though Brad tried to bring father and daughter back together previously, Angelina had vowed to never forgive her father for publicly saying she had "serious mental problems" in 2002.

But miraculously, she has tentatively carved a path to forgiveness. "I think we both wish the best for each other and will try to start to communicate," she recently said, adding that she hoped their future relationship would be "more private, because the difficulties we were having became very public."

Despite her words, the spirit that has touched Angelina's heart has made her go public in another way. On December 20, she was spotted holding Brad's hand as they strolled the romantic cobblestone streets of the French Quarter. For a moment, it was easy to forget their differences and embrace the feeling that unites them. "It's easier to be with someone, and that's just the truth of it," Angelina says. "There's the joy of waking up in the middle of the night — like last night — and looking at the other exhausted parent and sharing the burden. It's very special."

She's trying to fix her weight

"To me, actually someone saying, 'You're thin,' is not a compliment," Angelina, who wants people to know that her weight loss was not intentional, said in the Grazia interview. "I have always been lean, and this year, I lost my mom and I've gone through a lot. I want people to understand who I am as a person is not somebody that's trying to look thin, but just trying to work through a very difficult year."

She's relieved for Pax

Angelina recently sent a letter and two photos to the Vietnamese authorities to explain how well Pax has integrated into her family. "He laughs, sings, tells stories and is very fun to be around," she wrote. "He has a great sense of humor. He is a wonderful addition to our family."

In her latest interview, Angelina reveals what's in her heart

She's waiting to adopt

Though earlier in 2007, Angelina wanted to rush into the adoption of another child, she and Brad are finally in agreement that they should wait to bring another new child into their growing family. "We will have more children," she recently said, "but right now, we're adjusting everybody and it's still new."

BRAD PROMISES TO LOSE THE HAT

Brad finally revealed why he's worn the same cap around the globe. "Pure laziness and comfort," the actor confessed to Charlie Rose. "Get up, put a cap on, you're ready to go. I know it's worn out its welcome. I'll get rid of it soon." Brad is selling similar versions for $30 on his web site, makeitrightnola.org.

HE WORE IT AT A PREMIERE

She's talking to dad

"For years, I've tried to mend this relationship," Jon said in 2007. "I am always available to them for whatever they need of me." This season, Angelina took a step toward a reconciliation. "We have [communicated] through letters already and we'll see how far we can go," she recently said.

Living with Bipolar Disorder Takes Understanding:

where you've been

You've spent years trying to manage the extreme ups and downs with mood swings and relapses.

where you want to be

You want your manic symptoms controlled and to feel more like yourself.

how to get there

Maybe ABILIFY can help. ABILIFY helps control the symptoms of bipolar mania and reduce the risk of manic relapse.

the ABILIFY experience

Hundreds of thousands of patients have been prescribed ABILIFY.

ABILIFY is used to treat manic or mixed episodes in adults with Bipolar I Disorder and maintain efficacy in patients whose symptoms have been controlled on ABILIFY for six weeks.

ABILIFY was shown to have a low risk of significant weight gain in 3-week clinical trials.*

Ask your healthcare professional if once-a-day ABILIFY is right for you.

Individual results may vary.

*Significant weight gain: ABILIFY 3%, sugar pill 2%.

What important information about ABILIFY do I need to know?

Elderly patients diagnosed with psychosis as a result of dementia (for example, an inability to perform daily activities as a result of increased memory loss), and who are treated with atypical antipsychotic medicines including ABILIFY, are at an increased risk of death when compared to patients who are treated with a placebo (sugar pill). ABILIFY is not approved for the treatment of patients with dementia-related psychosis.

Serious side effects can occur with any antipsychotic medicine, including ABILIFY. Tell your doctor or healthcare professional right away if you have or develop any conditions or side effects, such as:

- Very high fever, rigid muscles, shaking, confusion, sweating, or increased heart rate and blood pressure may be signs of neuroleptic malignant syndrome (NMS), which is rare but potentially fatal
- Abnormal or uncontrollable facial movements may be signs of tardive dyskinesia (TD), which may be permanent
- If you are elderly, an increased risk of stroke or ministroke has been reported in clinical trials for elderly patients with dementia
- If you have diabetes, risk factors for, or symptoms of diabetes, increases in blood sugar levels have been reported with medicines like ABILIFY. In some cases these were serious and resulted in coma or death
- If you have lightheadedness upon standing, seizures, trouble swallowing, or suicidal thoughts

It's important to tell your healthcare professional about all the medicines you're taking, since there are some risks for drug interactions with ABILIFY.

You should avoid alcohol while taking ABILIFY.

ABILIFY can affect your judgment or motor skills. Until you know how it affects you, you should not operate machinery or drive.

What are the most common side effects of ABILIFY?

Common side effects include: headache, anxiety, insomnia, nausea, vomiting, constipation, dizziness, upset stomach, and an inner sense of restlessness or need to move (akathisia).

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT ABILIFY

This summary of the Package Insert contains risk and safety information for patients about ABILIFY. This summary does not include all information about ABILIFY and does not take the place of discussions with your doctor or healthcare professional about your treatment. Please read this important information before you start taking ABILIFY and discuss any questions about ABILIFY with your doctor or healthcare professional.

Name

ABILIFY® (a-BIL-ĭ-fĭ) (aripiprazole) (air-ĭ-PIP-ra-zall)

What is ABILIFY?

ABILIFY is a prescription medicine used to treat patients with an acute manic or mixed episode associated with Bipolar I Disorder and for maintaining efficacy in these patients who have been stabilized and then maintained for at least six weeks.

What is Bipolar I Disorder?

Bipolar I Disorder is an illness with symptoms thought to be caused by an imbalance of brain chemicals. People who have Bipolar I Disorder tend to experience extreme mood swings, along with other specific symptoms and behaviors. These mood swings, or "episodes," can take three forms: manic, depressive, or mixed episodes. Common symptoms of a manic episode are: feeling extremely happy, being very irritable and anxious, talking too fast and too much, and having more energy and needing less sleep than usual. Common symptoms of a depressive episode include: feelings of overwhelming sadness or emptiness, low energy, a loss of interest in things, trouble concentrating, changes in sleep or appetite, and thoughts of dying or suicide. A mixed episode includes symptoms that are both manic and depressive.

Who should not take ABILIFY?

People who are allergic to ABILIFY or to any substance that is in it. Please talk with your doctor or healthcare professional.

What important information should I know about ABILIFY?

Elderly patients, diagnosed with psychosis as a result of dementia (for example, an inability to perform daily activities as a result of increased memory loss), and who are treated with atypical antipsychotic medicines including ABILIFY, are at an increased risk of death when compared to patients who are treated with a placebo (sugar pill). ABILIFY is not approved for the treatment of patients with dementia-related psychosis.

Serious side effects can occur with any antipsychotic medicine, including ABILIFY. Tell your doctor or healthcare professional right away if you have any conditions or side effects, including the following:

Neuroleptic malignant syndrome (NMS): Very high fever, rigid muscles, shaking, confusion, sweating, or increased heart rate and blood pressure may be signs of NMS, a rare but serious side effect that could be fatal.

Tardive dyskinesia (TD): Abnormal or uncontrollable facial movements may be signs of a serious condition known as TD, which may be permanent.

Elderly patients with dementia: An increased risk of stroke and ministroke has been reported in a clinical study of elderly patients with dementia (for example, increased memory loss and inability to perform daily activities). ABILIFY is not approved for treating patients with dementia.

High blood sugar and diabetes: Patients with diabetes and those having risk factors for diabetes (for example, obesity, family history of diabetes), as well as those with symptoms such as unexpected increases in thirst, urination, or hunger should have their blood sugar levels checked before and during treatment. Increases in blood sugar levels (hyperglycemia), in some cases serious and associated with coma or death, have been reported in patients taking medicines like ABILIFY.

Orthostatic hypotension: Lightheadedness or faintness caused by a sudden change in heart rate and blood pressure when rising too quickly from a sitting or lying position (orthostatic hypotension) has been reported with ABILIFY.

Dysphagia: Medicines like ABILIFY have been associated with swallowing problems (dysphagia). If you had or have swallowing problems, you should tell your doctor or healthcare professional.

Suicidal thoughts: If you have suicidal thoughts, you should tell your doctor or healthcare professional right away.

What should I tell my doctor or healthcare professional before I start taking ABILIFY (aripiprazole)?

Information about your overall health, and any medical problems you may have, such as:

- Whether you're taking any other prescription or nonprescription (over-the-counter) medicines
- Whether you're pregnant, plan to become pregnant, or are breast-feeding
- If you or anyone in your family has had seizures
- If you or anyone in your family has had high blood sugar or diabetes

What should I avoid when taking ABILIFY?

- Avoid overheating and dehydration
- Avoid driving or operating hazardous machinery until you know how ABILIFY affects you
- Avoid drinking alcohol
- Avoid breast-feeding an infant

What are the common side effects of ABILIFY?

Common side effects include: headache, anxiety, insomnia, nausea, vomiting, constipation, dizziness, upset stomach, and an inner sense of restlessness or need to move (akathisia).

What percentage of people stopped taking ABILIFY due to side effects?

In clinical trials, the percentage of people who discontinued taking ABILIFY due to side effects was similar for patients treated with ABILIFY (11%) and for patients treated with sugar pill (9%).

Can I safely take ABILIFY while I'm taking other medications?

ABILIFY can be taken with most drugs; however, taking ABILIFY with some medicines may require your doctor or healthcare professional to adjust the dosage of ABILIFY.

These medicines* include:

- ketoconazole (NIZORAL®)
- quinidine (QUINIDEX®)
- fluoxetine (PROZAC®)
- paroxetine (PAXIL®)

Britney's

Britney Spears was the last to know in her family that her little sister is having a baby

BRITNEY'S BEING SHUT OUT

She tried to call Jamie Lynn when the news broke, but "Lynne answered and told Britney to mind her own business," an insider tells In Touch.

THE MOMENT SHE FOUND OUT

On December 19, a shocked Britney got in her car after learning from photographers that her sister was pregnant. "She almost fainted," an onlooker says.

devastated over Jamie Lynn's pregnancy!

Britney Spears was in a great mood as she shopped at the Lisa Kline boutique in LA on December 18. "She said she was getting ready for a date," a witness tells In Touch. But Britney's world came crashing down when she exited the store and photographers asked her how she felt about her 16-year-old sister Jamie Lynn's pregnancy. "Ya'll, my sister is not pregnant," she replied. But Jamie Lynn was indeed 12 weeks pregnant with boyfriend Casey Aldridge's child, whose age has been reported as 18 and 19 — and Britney was the last to know!

An insider tells In Touch that many in Britney's family, including ex-husband Kevin Federline, found out the news at Thanksgiving. "Britney felt like it was a slap in the face," a friend reveals. "She was hyperventilating when she heard she was going to be an aunt. She thinks her sister is throwing her life away."

Casey's great uncle, Odus Jackson, tells In Touch that Jamie Lynn did attempt to contact Britney, but couldn't get through. "She said if she had to read about Britney's life though the tabloids, then Britney could find out about hers that way, too."

Britney, 26, confronted Jamie Lynn via e-mail on December 19. "She told Jamie Lynn that she wasn't mad, but was disappointed that it happened," reveals an insider. Twenty minutes later, Jamie Lynn e-mailed back and apologized for keeping Britney in the dark. "She didn't know what to do," the friend says. "She was scared."

For good reason. An insider says Jamie Lynn's relationship with Casey is "on the rocks" and she may have to raise their baby alone. But Casey's great uncle Jackson reportedly says, "Jamie Lynn and Casey want to get married."

The blame game

Family friend Sonny Wall tells In Touch, "I think Jamie Lynn's too young to be pregnant." Britney agrees and holds their mom Lynne responsible for allowing Casey to live with them from May to August of this year, a friend says. "Lynne didn't want him to, but caved after Jamie Lynn had a fit and said they would move in with Britney." But the girls' aunt, Chanda McGovern, blames Britney: "Jamie Lynn saw her sister growing up around teenagers having sex. It's no wonder she made a mistake."

Even though Britney's hurt, and was spotted crying at Raffles L'Ermitage hotel on December 20, a pal says she sent Jamie Lynn a $500 baby gift basket from Petit Trésor, which included a tank top that said "Hot Mama 2 B" and a note reading, "We love you! Brit, Sean and Jayden." Adds the friend, "She cares about her sister and wants to help her through this."

JAMIE LYNN'S FOLLOWING IN BRITNEY'S FOOTSTEPS

Instead of breaking out of her older sister's shadow, Jamie Lynn seems to be on the same tumultuous path as Britney

THEY'VE DATED THEIR HOMETOWN SWEETHEARTS

Casey grew up 30 miles from the Spears' Kentwood, La., home. In 2004, Britney was married to local boy Jason Alexander for three days. "I really wish Jamie Lynn all the best," Jason tells In Touch.

THEY'RE HAVING THEIR BABIES YOUNG

Britney married Kevin at 23 and had her first child less than a year later. Her second son arrived one year after that. Jamie Lynn will turn 17 in April.

THEY BOTH WERE CHILD STARS

Britney was on TV's The Mickey Mouse Club and became a huge pop star when she was 18. Jamie Lynn has starred on Nickelodeon's All That and Zoey 101 since she was 10 years old.

Looking less than 95 pounds, Tara Reid has gone too far trying to change her image

TARA needs

THE PRESSURE IS ON

"You have to look a certain way," Tara, posing in swimwear on December 17, has said in the past.

DID SHE FAINT?

Though her rep denies she fell on December 16, there appear to be cuts on Tara's elbow.

HER HAIR IS SO THIN!

SHE LOOKS TIRED

After back-to-back trips to Australia and Bali, Tara jetted to Italy for a vacation.

CLIPPING FROM THE NIGHT. A 17 AGENCY; BOOKTEST OF CBS; BIG AUSTRALIA/FAITH MORAN/BEIMAGES; X17 AGENCY (4)

Her appearance has some worried that Tara has taken a new health kick too far. "Tara does everything to extremes," says one of her longtime friends. "When she drinks, she gets drunk; when she falls in love, she falls hard; and when she loses weight, she gets scary-skinny."

"She's eating all organic foods." Tommy says that he and Tara will open an organic restaurant in Cleveland next fall.

Already thin waitress Courtney Yates, 26, dropped to very skinny proportions on the recent season of Survivor: China.

She lives for extremes

In late November, Tara gave an excuse for her weight loss: "I was filming in the middle of nowhere, and my hotel room had no room service. So when I wanted to eat, it was difficult."

But really, friends say Tara has been putting all of her energy into diet and exercise in an effort to revive her image. "She has been working out every day, twice a day," her friend Dean May tells In Touch. Another insider says she's given up junk food, is sticking to a high-protein diet, bikes five miles a day and is weight-training. "She's trying to be healthy," the pal says.

But Tara has always suffered from body issues. Her friend Dean reveals to In Touch that Tara became upset when she saw unflattering pictures of herself recently: "After that she became a little health nut."

But although Dean says she's given up partying, a witness in Bali insists she fell, scraping her arms and knees, during a night out in the Indonesian country. "She was drinking and stumbling around," claims an onlooker.

Though her rep denies the widespread story about Tara's fall and insists that the actress does not have eating issues, nutritionist Jackie Storm, Ph.D., who doesn't treat the star, is alarmed by Tara's appearance. "She's emaciated," observes Storm, who estimates that she is about 95 pounds — just 10 pounds more than 5'1" Nicole Richie was at her lowest weight. "Obviously, she's lost not only body fat and muscle tissue, but her bones look smaller than they should be."

Why the drastic weight loss now? In recent years, Tara, 32, has suffered a career slump since her heyday in 1999's American Pie. "It's a huge pressure in Hollywood, how to look," she has said. "You look at the girls who do really well, and most of them are very thin. The ones who are too thin, they even make them more successful."

And already, her career has gotten a slight boost because of her new rail-thin appearance. "Tara looks great," a spokesperson for Peter Alexander tells In Touch. "She's a big hit here."

Tara has also been dating Australian model Jay G. Lyon, who recently ended a relationship with Victoria's Secret model Miranda Kerr.

Her desire for perfection led to a series of disastrous plastic surgeries, which Tara tried to reverse. But now, friends fear that same desire could lead to an even more dangerous situation. "It seems like she's replaced her obsessions with dieting," says one pal.

Eating disorder specialist Dr. Leslie Seppinni, who does not treat Tara, says her drastic weight loss could be an indication of deeper troubles. "She is probably a pleaser," says Dr. Seppinni, author of Losing the Layers. "She wants to fit into the mold people expect of her, even if it is an unhealthy one."

Tara's ex Carson also got super-skinny

Tara isn't the only one who looks to be wasting away. Her ex-fiancé, Carson Daly, whom she split from in 2001, has dropped about 25 pounds to an estimated 175 pounds. The Last Call With Carson Daly host has joked he's on "the Lindsay Lohan diet," but he's often seen exercising.

SHE'S HAD SO MANY UPS AND DOWNS

100 lbs.

THE HEARTACHE DIET

Nutritionist Jackie Storm says the 5'6" star should weigh about 130 pounds, but after her 2001 split from Carson Daly, Tara says she lost her appetite.

110 lbs.

BACK ON TRACK

By 2003, a curvier Tara was on a lucky streak. In addition to a love match with Aussie tennis star Mark Philippoussis, she starred in My Boss's Daughter.

125 lbs.

HER HEALTHIEST WEIGHT

She felt more confident after getting breast implants in 2004. According to Storm, of the New York Health & Racquet Club, Tara looked normal and healthy.

Why she's shed so much weight

She's self-conscious

After her botched plastic surgery, Tara said, "My confidence went down." After her new guy, Jay, left Tara's side on December 11, she checked out her stomach.

She's still partying

A friend says that Tara is still burning the candle at both ends and enjoying late nights out.

Her career is struggling

It was reported in November that Bill Lawrence, Scrubs' creator, wouldn't invite Tara back on the show allegedly because of her drinking and smoking. In December, she took a job hosting the Hookers Ball in Australia — for which she was paid $3,500.

OVER THE YEARS

Tara's weight has fluctuated by more than 30 pounds in the past six years

120 lbs.

PARTYING TOO MUCH

Tara filmed her party show Taradise in 2005. Storm says her weight doesn't look evenly distributed. "Her face seems puffy, which may be from too much alcohol."

136 lbs.

SHOWING WEAR AND TEAR

A year later, Tara's weight had gone up — as her reputation as an actress went down. Her cable show Taradise was canceled in 2005 after one season.

95 lbs.

SKIN AND BONES

Tara's currently trying for a career comeback. "Her ribs are quite visible," Storm says of her current figure. "The yo-yoing is extremely hard on the body."

Guy caught flak in 2002 when he directed his wife in Swept Away, which performed poorly at the box office.

Madonna and Guy: separate lives

Madonna and Guy Ritchie were married in a lavish ceremony in Scotland on December 22, 2000, but after seven years, their union is far from perfect.

"Madonna and Guy rarely see each other when they're at home, and when they do they don't talk much," says an insider. Madge, 49, and her filmmaker husband, 39, have an interesting living situation. "Madonna not only sleeps in a separate bed, but on a separate floor from Guy," the insider explains.

In an interview she recently gave to the U.K.'s Mail on Sunday, the superstar makes it clear that her life with Guy and their three kids — Lourdes, 11, Rocco, 7, and newly adopted David, 2 — isn't always easy. "It's a juggling act," she admits. "Guy gets up the earliest. He goes to work out and I spend time with the kids. In the evening, he comes home earlier and feeds the kids, then I come home and give them baths." Despite rumors that the relationship is on the rocks, Madonna seems willing to make it work. "It's not easy having a good marriage, but I don't want easy. Easy doesn't make you grow," she says.

Guy and Madonna live in a $12 million home in Marble Arch, West London.

Mischa wants to date the Bachelor

Possible new couple alert: Mischa Barton and former Bachelor Andy Baldwin. The two have been set up by a mutual pal, and though they've yet to meet, they have exchanged e-mails. After romances with Hollywood bad boys Brandon Davis and Cisco Adler, Mischa, 21, is looking for a normal guy — and Andy fits the bill, an insider says. "It's too soon to call it a romance," one of Andy's pals says. "They might not be able to get together for a while since Andy is getting shipped to the Middle East on January 15." Meanwhile, Mischa has been in New York working on a film and Andy is a doctor in Hawaii. "They're trying to work out logistics," the pal says.

► Andy, 30, is going to New York for New Year's Eve and was hoping to meet up with Mischa, but she'll be in Australia.

► Naval officer Andy is "completely different from the party boys Mischa is used to dating," says a pal.

Shia cleans up his act

Has Shia LaBeouf stopped drinking for good? An intoxicated Shia made headlines when he was arrested for trespassing in a Chicago Walgreen's on November 4, but the charges were dropped and now Shia seems to be on the wagon. On December 14, he attended producer Michael Bay's holiday party, where he sipped only sparkling water and talked about his sobriety, says an eyewitness. "I learned my lesson," Shia was overheard telling a female guest at the bash. "I am completely sober now."

◀ "I know how hard it was to get my life to where it is," Shia, 21, told a magazine interviewer recently.

Pete: I'm taller than you think

At 5'6½", Pete Wentz may be short, but he recently sprouted a few inches! The Fall Out Boy bassist, who broke his ankle at a New Orleans concert in October, has been sporting a foot cast that gives him some height. "This makes me 5'8" or 5'9" — it's pretty sweet," Pete, 28, tells In Touch. He's so delighted with his new stature, he's thinking of injuring himself further: "I'm going to break my right leg next!" No Fall Out Boy shows have been canceled due to Pete's injury. "If you see me at a show, come and sign my cast," he says.

Pete says his girlfriend of more than a year, Ashlee Simpson, 23, has been helping him heal.

Spencer has said, "I would be on reality TV until I am 100. It's the coolest thing in town."

Is Spencer set to be a porn star?

Spencer Pratt already stars in MTV's The Hills, but he's gotten a new offer. In Touch has exclusively learned that Michael Lucas, a mogul in the gay-porn industry, has asked Spencer, 24, to star in one of his films. Yes, that's the naked truth. "He was born to be in a gay-porn blockbuster," Michael says. "Lucas Entertainment would do anything to be able to center our next major all-male production on Spencer Pratt." As CEO of Lucas Entertainment, Michael says he can make Spencer the next gay-porn superstar. "There are many things I value about Spencer, especially his incredible energy and his in-your-face enthusiasm for attention. I know how to put all of that to excellent use in gay porn." But don't start looking for Spencer's name in adult-film credits yet — Spencer plans to politely decline. "I think I will have to turn down this offer," Spencer tells In Touch.

"Trust me — I'll know how to show viewers the parts of Spencer Pratt they most want to see," Michael Lucas tells In Touch.

Jessica's gift for Lane

Christmas came early for former Prison Break star Lane Garrison — his good pal Jessica Simpson bought him a 12-inch color TV! Lane's serving a 40-month prison sentence for his December 2, 2006, DUI, which resulted in the death of a 17-year-old boy. Permission to get a TV was granted to Lane, 27, for good behavior and Jessica, 27, was happy to make it happen. "Lane's broke," his pal explains. "He didn't have enough money to buy a TV, so Jessica was nice enough to send him one for the holidays."

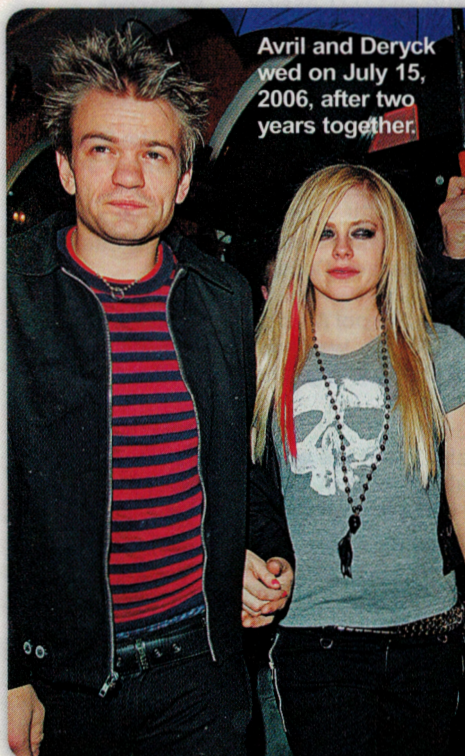

After getting into more trouble than his mother could handle, Lane was sent to live with the Simpson family when he was 17.

Avril and Deryck plan time apart

Avril and Deryck wed on July 15, 2006, after two years together.

After just 18 months of marriage, Avril Lavigne and Deryck Whibley are planning to spend a lot of time apart in 2008. When the sassy singer kicks off her Best Damn Tour this March — traveling through Europe and North America well into next summer — her hubby won't be backstage: The Sum 41 star, 27, will be with his own band. "He's going to be on his tour for most of the time, so I won't see him," Avril, 23, tells In Touch. "I'll be okay. We'll talk." Hopefully for Avril, the distance will only make their hearts grow fonder.

"Hayden and Milo (here with their Heroes cast-mates) were extremely gracious and seemed to enjoy each other's company," restaurant manager Derek Wagle tells In Touch.

Hayden and Milo come out as a couple

They're still publicly denying that they are a couple, but Hayden Panettiere and Milo Ventimiglia recently came out to their Heroes co-stars. Although it's Hollywood's worst-kept secret that they're an item, Hayden and Milo joined the cast for dinner at the Water Grill in downtown LA on December 15 and confirmed what everyone already knew — they're in love. According to an eyewitness, Hayden, Milo, their Heroes co-stars and producers had dinner at the restaurant when Milo made a toast announcing that he and Hayden were dating. "He called her his girlfriend and said that he loved her," the eyewitness says. "I love partying with girls," Andy told In Touch at a bash he threw in New York on December 13. "My ideal date is a down-to-earth kind of woman."

Lindsay is out with another man

It didn't take Lindsay Lohan long! According to insiders, Lindsay has been dating yet another man since her breakup with Riley Giles. Last week, she was seen out with 24-year-old graphic artist Spencer Guilburt, but the 21-year-old is now dating Australian billionaire heir-turned-art dealer Andy Valmorbida. The pair hooked up more than a month ago, says the insider, but Lindsay was seen leaving Andy's room at The Beverly Hills Hotel on December 18 and also dining with him at Madeo Ristorante the following night.

The playboy, who is pals with Brandon Davis and Stavros Niarchos, has been linked to a string of party girls, including Paris Hilton, but it seems he really likes Lindsay. "Andy is a good influence on her," an insider tells In Touch. "He doesn't do drugs and he is a sweet guy."

Pamela and Rick try to make it work

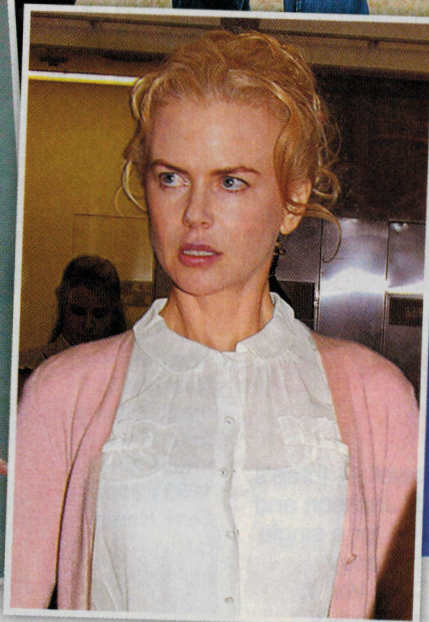

Just two weeks ago, she was ready to pull the plug on her marriage, but Pamela Anderson, 40, and Rick Salomon, 39, were spotted leaving a restaurant in LA on December 18, looking like a normal married couple. The pair had lunch together at A Votre Sante restaurant in Brentwood. E! Online columnist Ted Casablanca speculated that the rift might have happened because Rick, who was married to Shannen Doherty and dated Paris Hilton, didn't have quite as much money as he claimed. Whether that's the case or not, the couple looked content as they strolled back to their car. "Pam left the restaurant with her arm around him, so perhaps their marriage repair has begun," says an onlooker.

Pamela and Rick have been friends for 15 years.

Nicole and Katie's battle over the kids

Is there trouble brewing between Tom Cruise's present and former wives? There certainly could be if Nicole Kidman gets her hands on an upcoming interview Katie Holmes has done with Parade magazine to promote her movie Mad Money. In it, Katie says Connor, 12, and Isabella, 15 — the two children Tom adopted with Nicole — now refer to her as their mother. "His first two children are incredible, really smart and kind," she says. "They call me 'Mom.'" Meanwhile, Nicole recently told a British television show: "My kids don't call me Mummy, they don't even call me Mum," she said. "They call me 'Nicole,' which I hate and I tell them off for it." Nicole's rep insists she was just joking when she made the comment. "It's been turned into a serious item, which is absurd," says the rep. Nevertheless, Nicole's only children are now referring to someone else as "Mommy," too.

◀ Tom and Katie are regular fixtures at Connor and Isabella's after-school games, and while Nicole spends as much time as she can in LA, she also has homes in Nashville and Australia.

Katie was born on December 18, 1978.

Katie's romantic birthday

Katie Holmes and Tom Cruise left baby Suri with a sitter so he could whisk his wife to the Raffles L'Ermitage hotel in Beverly Hills on December 19 for a private birthday dinner. It's a wonder she stays so thin with Tom! According to an insider, he ordered her five small birthday cakes from LA baker Sweet Lady Jane. "He wanted a variety so that she could have whatever she was in the mood for," the insider says. "He also asked for cookies and lemon squares."

Not over the Hill

The fifth season of One Tree Hill makes television history when it flashes forward to its characters four years into the future. "I found that many shows struggled creatively when they went to college," creator Mark Schwahn tells In Touch.

"Now the actors can play closer to their real ages and the mystery of what happened in those four years is also a great piece of storytelling: You can flash back and grab another piece of the puzzle. The jump was a risky move, but the good news is, it still feels like One Tree Hill."

Paula & Randy to duet on Idol?

Sorry, Simon Cowell — there's a crowd! Randy Jackson and Paula Abdul team up for a single on the duets album Randy Jackson's Music Club: Vol. 1, which also features Randy's pals Mariah Carey and Joss Stone. "It's hot!" Randy says. So will Randy and Paula dare take the stage on American Idol? "What we should do is get Paula and Randy to sing their song live — and get the top three Idol contestants to sit in the judges' places and judge them!" Idol executive producer Nigel Lythgoe tells In Touch. "It may be fun on a results night or the finale." Wonder what Simon would say?

The duet with Randy will mark Paula's first new music since 1995's Head Over Heels.

Ice Cube wants to be on The A-Team

He's teaming up with Tracy Morgan and Katt Williams in the hilarious heist comedy First Sunday, but Ice Cube may soon be playing for

The A-Team. "I'd love to play B.A. Baracus — I'd rock the Mohawk!" the rapper/actor tells In Touch. "Because John Singleton (Ice's director in Boyz n the Hood) is doing it — I know it won't be too Hollywood."

▲▶ "I was a big fan of Mr. T growing up," says Ice of the original B.A. Baracus.

It's Janet's turn to bring sexy back

She had the No. 1 movie in the country with Tyler Perry's Why Did I Get Married? and now Janet Jackson is getting rave reviews for her dance floor-burning "Feedback" — the first single off her upcoming album, Discipline. The Rodney Jerkins-produced track is the most-added song on radio — don't call it a comeback!

▶ Janet's 10th studio album, Discipline (due out February 26), will feature production from Ne-Yo and Jermaine Dupri.

Adrian's other entourage

The soundtrack to his HBO show Entourage is filled with hip-hop club-bangers and classic rock anthems — but off-screen, Adrian Grenier keeps the beat of a different drummer in his quirky, catchy indie band The Honey Brothers. Need more proof that Vinnie Chase has left the building? The star of the band's new video "Little Boy" is not a sultry starlet, but a damaged doll. "A fan (Andrew Zuchero) really loves the band and asked us — begged us, in fact — to make the video," Adrian tells In Touch. "And it's a great video!" The Bucket List

Survivor lunch lady apologizes

Asob story about being demoted from lunch lady to janitor got Survivor: China castaway Denise Martin a $50,000 check from producer Mark Burnett in the show's December 16 season finale. But after Denise's boss said that the position switch was in fact a promotion that Denise requested, the Survivor runner-up apologized for her misleading claims and asked that the $50,000 instead be donated to the Elizabeth Glaser Pediatric AIDS Foundation. "I hope you can find it in your hearts to forgive me," Denise said.

Vanessa softens up a leather jacket

Fresh-faced Vanessa Hudgens is quickly becoming a red-carpet favorite, and now that she's signed on for High School Musical 3, fans can look forward to seeing more of the starlet and her trendy styles, like this cool leather-and-ruffles combo. Stylist

April Steiner says the look is "young, fresh, fun and flirty." The key to making it work, Steiner explains, is the fitted silhouette of the jacket. "The crop works perfectly because it doesn't lose Vanessa's slim figure or hide the ruffles, which are a huge trend right now."

It's time to say farewell to some of the standout trends of 2007!

So last year

EVA MENDES

OUT: TRAPEZE DRESSES

Her dress is overflowing
These relaxed dresses (like Eva's Anna Molinari design) were a hit since they forgave figure flaws, but with her beyond-perfect bod, Eva should be one of the first to release the swingy silhouette.

RIHANNA

OUT: NEON COLORS

She's blindingly bright
Megastars like Rihanna, in a pink Armani Privé dress, managed to shine even brighter in 2007 in shocking shades that garnered as much attention as a Vegas marquee.

ASHLEY TISDALE

OUT: HIGH-WAISTED PANTS

They're almost to her chin
High School Musical's Ashley took the high-waisted trend too far when she showed up at MTV's Total Request Live in an extreme version of 2007's most questionable style.

FROM LEFT: HAHN-NEUBERGER/ABACA; FLYNET; MICHAEL LOCCISANO; MARGARET KINKINLI; VENTURELLI/WIREIMAGE; MATT BARON/IMAGES

What's next

Here's a peek at styles you're sure to see on the red carpet in 2008!

THANDIE NEWTON

IN: PAINTERLY PRINTS

Look like a work of art

Thandie, known for her fashion-forward sense of style, already invested in an art-inspired print by Giles, which makes her a beautiful inspiration for other trendsetters.

BEYONCÉ

IN: TULIP DRESSES

Accent your curves

Beyoncé's tulip-shaped Armani design is an updated version of last year's popular bubble-hem dresses. The softly draped style is the perfect way to highlight feminine figures.

KATE HUDSON

IN: METALLICS

Show up in shimmer

The next generation of metallics will look to the future rather than revisit retro-glam styles. Kate's Dolce & Gabbana mini is a shining example of what to expect on the fashion frontier.

The new styles for 2008 are chic face-framing cuts

Hottest hair

They've got Spock bangs

"Women are craving neater, more geometric looks in fashion and hair," says Michelle Fiona, Bumble and bumble celebrity and editorial stylist. "Heavy bangs give a hairstyle an instant edge while still remaining feminine." To get this look right, like Jennifer Hudson, keep fringe heavy and neat and pass on wispy layers.

SPOCK DID IT FIRST!

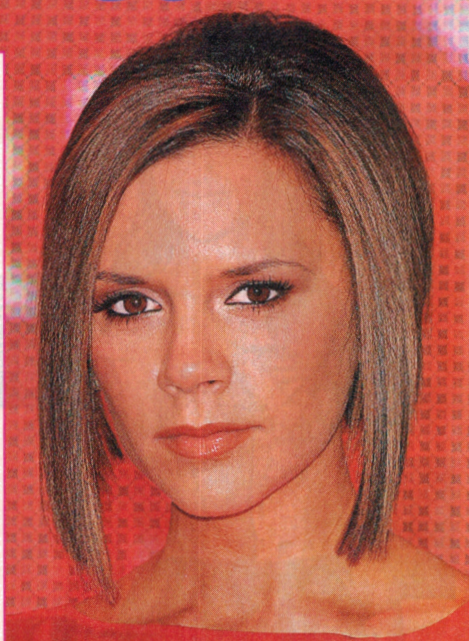

KEIRA KNIGHTLEY

MELANIE CHISHOLM

It's all about the bob

"The best thing about a bob is it flatters any face shape," says Fiona. "A bob style says you are confident and a risk taker — it's a statement-making cut." Victoria Beckham's longer, face-framing pieces help accentuate features like her sky-high cheekbones. It's perfect for someone who wants the illusion of length.

KATIE WEARS BOTH TRENDS!

KATIE HOLMES

PARIS HILTON

What's out: excessive extensions

Trendy celebs went Rapunzel in 2007, trying out looks that went from long to super-long

Ashlee loved it long

Ever since her makeover, Ashlee Simpson has been one of Hollywood's trendiest starlets, so it was no surprise to see her trying out various lengths of extensions, like these wildly long locks.

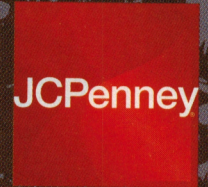

Even Rumer tried it

Hanging out with fashionistas like Lindsay Lohan and Paris Hilton seems to have inspired short-haired Rumer Willis to experiment with her own look. Who knows, maybe she'll be the next to bob.

"I'm still not used to my reflection in the mirror," says Bill, who went from 334 to 170 pounds. "My life has improved so much, there's no way I could go back to the way I was."

"I lost

After losing almost half of his body weight, The Biggest Loser winner Bill Germanakos has a new lease on life!

BEFORE

164 pounds!

Bill Germanakos still remembers his lowest point as an overweight person. He was at an amusement park with his oldest daughter, Adrienne, when he realized he was too obese to ride a roller-coaster. "They were pushing the bar down on me and the pain was horrible," reveals the winner of The Biggest Loser. "I got out knowing I was the one holding everyone up. My daughter took my hand and said, 'Dad, it's okay, I still love you,' but it was the worst day of my life."

It's not surprising then that the 41-year-old medical salesman from Lynbrook, N.Y. — who has three kids with his wife, Stephanie — knew where he was heading after losing an amazing 164 pounds. "The day after I got home from the show, we hit Six Flags," he says. "I rode so many roller-coasters, I made my family sick — they never want to ride another one again!"

Looking ahead

Now that he's down to a healthy 170 pounds, Bill — who says he'll put his kids through college with the $250,000 he won — plans to keep the weight off by exercising six days a week and cutting down on carbs like white bread, pasta and rice. He also hopes to stay on track with the help of his family, especially his twin brother and fellow Biggest Loser contestant, Jim. Bill's identical twin won $100,000 for losing 186 pounds — the highest amount among the eliminated competitors. "Being able to go through this with Jim made the experience so much better," says Bill. "We really supported each other. I couldn't have done it without him."

THESE LOSERS ARE WINNERS, TOO

They used to be ashamed of their bodies, but now these three beautiful ladies — who have lost a combined total of 315 pounds — look and feel fabulous!

JULIE'S A SIZE 4

"I was such a shell of who I am now," says Julie Hadden, 34, the stay-at-home mom who dropped 97 pounds and spent the last six years skipping her husband's holiday parties. "I didn't want anyone to see me," she says. "Now I'm a different person. I'm not hiding anymore!"

HOLLIE LOST 105 POUNDS

Hollie Self, 28, moved to LA for a fresh start and maybe even a shot at love after dropping 105 pounds. "I used to be nervous about dating because of my body image," she says. "Now I'm more confident and can focus on the other complicated aspects of relationships!"

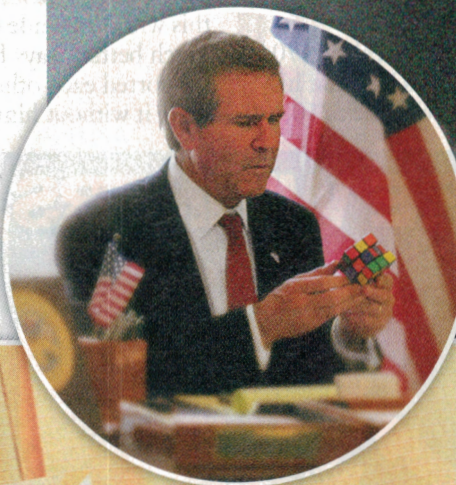

ISABEAU'S A TRAINER NOW

Now that she's 113 pounds lighter, Isabeau Miller, 21, finally has the confidence to go after her dreams. She got her personal trainer certificate, bought a house and is moving ahead with her singing career. "I used to watch as my life passed by," she says. "Now I'm really living."

DOUBLE TAKE

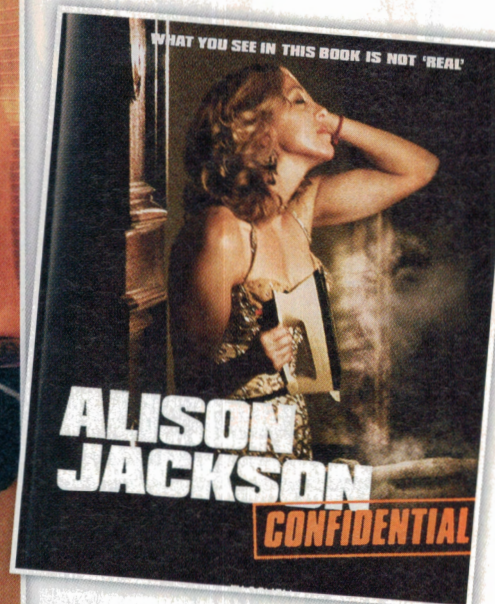

Recognize these celebrities? Look again!

Has anyone ever said that you resemble a famous person? Then give Alison Jackson a call. The LA-based photographer didn't ask celebs to pose for her new book, Alison Jackson: Confidential. Instead, she filled the pages with pictures of celebrity look-alikes — in poses that the real McCoys would never agree to!

◀ Ever wonder what "President Bush" does in his spare time?

Would the real Brad and Angelina use a disposable razor?

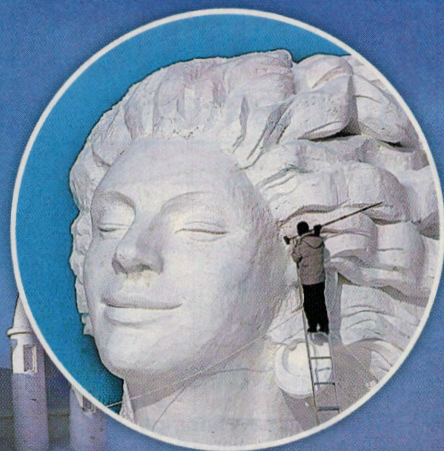

▲ Alison's steamy new book even features the "Material Girl."

VERY COOL

Forget Frosty — check out this snow art!

The world's tallest snow sculpture, titled "Romantic Feelings," was finished on December 18 in Harbin, China. Measuring 115 feet high and just over 656 feet long, the intricate castle will be on display at the 20th International Snow Sculpture Art Expo.

▲ Elsewhere in the exhibit, "French Girl" stands more than 100 feet tall.

AMAZING RESCUE

They're a little cold, but they're okay!

A playday turned into a near-death experience for two golden retrievers in Greeley, Colo., when they fell through ice $\frac{3}{4}$ -inch thick on December 9. Firefighters from the Union Colony Fire Rescue Authority rigged a rope to rescue the pups, which ended up 50 feet from shore. Rescuer Rod Eitel (right) donned a special cold-water suit to reach the dogs after they had been submerged for more than 10 minutes.

PET PALS

The most unlikely friends ever

Thanks to new findings by Japanese scientists, Tom and Jerry may actually learn to be pals. Researchers at Tokyo University genetically engineered a group of mice so that they were fearless around cats. "The mice approached the cat, and even snuggled up to it," one team member says. The research indicates that mice are born afraid of cats rather than learning to fear them.

LITTLE LODGING

Looking for something very cozy?

Talk about downsizing! In 1912, builders turned a tight alleyway into the tiniest home in all of Toronto. At less than 300-square-feet, the adorable abode is newly renovated (it even has a space-saving Murphy Bed!) and ready for sale. But this pint-size dwelling might not fit your whole family, and it also might not fit your budget: It's on the market for a very full-size $172,000. But there's one big advantage — you won't have to spend much time cleaning!

SOFT AND STRONG

He can squeeze his new bride!

Jennifer Cannon didn't have to worry about sweating in her wedding gown — it was extra-absorbent. The bride married Doy Nichols in a dress made entirely of Charmin's toilet tissue (plus a little bit of glue and tape). The Kentucky couple exchanged vows at the Charmin Restrooms, a free public facility in New York's Times Square, on December 19.

GREAT SMILE

Miracle face transplant recipient's smile is back

Isabelle Dinoire, the world's first face transplant recipient, is "perfect," according to Dr. Jean-Michel Dubernard, her lead surgeon. Isabelle, 40, can now close her lips and smile. She got the transplant in France in 2005 after her dog chewed off the end of her nose, lips, chin and parts of her cheek after she had overdosed on sleeping pills. She has overcome two tissue-rejection episodes and kidney failure, a side effect of the drugs she takes to prevent her immune system from rejecting her new face.

The "Efron scandal" received so many hits, OC Weekly's web site crashed.

Is Zac recording with Lil' Wayne?

NO! Zac Efron is reportedly living with rapper Lil' Wayne as they work together on tracks for High School Musical 3. "Zac and me was both in San Francisco a few months ago — we met at an after-party at some bar," Wayne reportedly told Ben Westhoff of Orange County Weekly, in an Internet story that describes Zac greeting Wayne with an expletive, a hug and "a full-on kiss." "I've been a big fan of Wayne for a long time," Zac allegedly said. "These are the cuts we just finished. Dope, right?" Dopey is more like it.

Though news agencies as far away as London picked up the tale, it was meant as a joke. "Some people don't recognize comedy gold, even as it's conking them upside their thick heads," OC Weekly wrote in its clarification.

"Lil' Wayne's newest collaboration will have even his most die-hard fans scratching their heads," the report claimed.

Does Harry's wife get annoyed when he sings to her?

YES! Harry Connick Jr.'s sexy voice has been known to make women all over the world swoon, but there's one woman who doesn't care to hear it — his wife, former model Jill Goodacre.

"I'll sing some romantic ballad to her and she puts her hand over my face," he said in a recent interview with World Entertainment News Wire Service. "I say, 'Do you realize I can go all over the world and sing?' She couldn't care less. She'll say, 'Go take out the trash.'"

◀ Harry admits that his wife of 13 years would rather read a good book before bed than listen to him croon to her!

YES! Rehab rocker

Pete Doherty has made outrageous claims before, but none more surprising than his recent vow to run the 2008 London Marathon. "He knows that people will be surprised by his efforts to be healthier, but he really wants to turn over a new leaf," a friend of Pete's told the U.K.'s Daily Mirror. "There's some truth to this," a rep for the singer confirms. "You never know what will happen!"

Are nude photos of Marcia on the Internet?

YES! Her prudish character, Bree, would be horrified, but nude photos of Desperate Housewives' Marcia Cross have gone up on the web. The photos show her "emerging from an outdoor shower... and looking not particularly thrilled to be having her picture taken," reported defamer.com. Yes, they're real. Did Tyra only give her staff cheeseburgers for Christmas?

NO! At the holiday party for her talk show, Tyra Banks tried to share a little holiday cheer. "I want to thank you guys for working so hard. I have a special guest—here's Santa!" she said, according to gossip blogger Janet Charlton. "Everybody ran to Santa's big bag and found it was full of limp McDonald's cheeseburgers!" the blog reported. "Employees got cheeseburgers for Christmas!" But a rep for Tyra says the burgers weren't meant as gifts. "It is not true," the rep tells In Touch. "Cheeseburgers were provided as a late-night snack for the staff at the party."

Breaking news! From Angelina's adoption struggles to Britney's battle with the bottle, we got the scoop on the biggest stories of 2007 before any other publication. Here are some of In Touch's most exciting exclusives this year

Finally, J. Lo's PREGNANT!

After trying to have a baby for two years, Jennifer Lopez and her husband, Marc Anthony, have a little one — or two — on the way

Jennifer Lopez recently told British magazine Grazia, "I can't wait to have a baby. I guess it will happen when God wants it." Now Is the Time can exclusively reveal that Jennifer's prayers have finally been answered. After previously visiting her Beverly Hills ob-gyn, fertility specialist Dr. Robert Katz, she had an ultrasound performed in a New York office on September 12. "The test calculated that she was about 12 weeks pregnant," an insider tells Us. "She's due in the spring."

That's wonderful news for Jennifer, 38, and her husband, singer Marc Anthony, because for the past two years, they had been trying just about everything to get pregnant, the insider adds. Finally, in July, she was successful with in vitro fertilization — so successful, in fact, that there's a possibility she's having twins. "The way the fetus is lying made it difficult for the doctor to tell if there was more than one baby in there," says the insider.

Whether she has one baby or two, "becoming a mother is Jennifer's dream," a friend says. "She's over the moon." Marc is also beaming. "He has a twinkle in his

She's already showing Although Jennifer is keeping mum about her pregnancy and she and Marc are going to be on a 14-city tour together until November 3, there have been obvious signs she has a baby on the way. On September 11, Jennifer appeared at the New York Fashion Week lunch of

Is the honeymoon
ALREADY OVER?

A month after tying the knot, Pamela Anderson is expecting her wedding to marry Rick Salomon.

Just weeks after Pamela Anderson married Rick Salomon, In Touch reported that they were having problems. "Pam woke up one day, asking, 'What have I done?'" her pal revealed in our November 26 issue. Recently, Pam filed for divorce — but now they are trying to work it out.

We revealed that J. Lo's pregnant

Jennifer Lopez and her husband, Marc Anthony, didn't officially announce that they were having a baby until November 7. But readers of In Touch already knew! In the October 1 issue, we broke the news that J. Lo was 12 weeks pregnant and her twins were due in the spring! After a two-year struggle with in vitro fertilization, "she's over the moon," her friend told In Touch.

After Anna Nicole Smith died on February 8, In Touch brought readers exclusive excerpts from her diaries, including shocking details about her sex life, her drug-taking and her marriage to late billionaire J. Howard Marshall II.

We found Zahara's birth mom

When Angelina Jolie adopted her Ethiopian daughter two years ago, the agency told her the birth mother had died of AIDS. This November, In Touch found Zahara's mother, Mentewab Dawit Lebiso, alive! "I want my daughter to come home," she told In Touch, but also said that Zahara is better off living with Angelina.

We announced it was over

Last May, little more than a year after they began their controversial relationship, we broke the news that Denise Richards and Richie Sambora had called it quits. A friend explained to In Touch they'd been "drifting apart" due to the death of Richie's father and Denise's late mom's illness. The two remain friends.

A real-life High School romance

After months of speculation, In Touch was the first to publish details about Zac Efron and Vanessa Hudgens' real-life romance in April. "They seem very much in love," a witness told In Touch. Eight months later, they're still together!

We revealed that Zac and Vanessa were a couple

After months of speculation, In Touch was the first to publish details about Zac Efron and Vanessa Hudgens' real-life romance in April. "They seem very much in love," a witness told In Touch. Eight months later, they're still together!

In a revealing interview with In Touch, Lindsay Lohan celebrates her new life

How will your life be different now? The biggest change is not being in LA and staying away from the nightlife. Going out all the time was very self-destructive. Partying and having all of these parties taken drama from the work that I do. It's not why I started acting. I didn't get into acting to be written about. It kind of just happened — so I accept that it's my life. But there are some things that I can do to make changes and grow up. I want to act like a woman rather than a teenager. I am doing the best I can.

You also had to do chores. I kept the curtains more clean. I liked making coffee for the guys the best.

We got Lindsay's first post-rehab interview

When Lindsay Lohan left Cirque Lodge in October, she came to In Touch exclusively to talk about her then-boyfriend Riley Giles, her mended relationship with her dad and her daily struggle to stay sober. "Rehab was really humbling," Lindsay told In Touch. "I'm really grateful."

We uncovered Britney's shocking world of drugs and sex

In Touch revealed Britney Spears' scandalous drug use, out-of-control partying and lesbian flings. "She's into threesomes," music producer Omar Sharif told In Touch.

Jonathan Waxman with Tom St

Celebrating New

Whether partying at a club or entertaining at home, the stars will ring in 2008 with the perfect drinks

“Jonathan Waxman’s food is amazing,” says Nigel. For those who can’t get to Barbuto, the chef’s new book of recipes is on sale at amazon.com.

New Year’s is definitely a champagne night,” says America’s Next Top Model judge and fashion photographer Nigel Barker as he sips some bubbly at the bar of his favorite NYC hotspot, chef Jonathan Waxman’s famed Italian restaurant Barbuto. Among his champagne favorites are Taittinger, Bollinger and Veuve Clicquot.

Nigel often dines at Barbuto since it’s located near both his work studio and the condo he lives in with his wife, model-turned-makeup artist Cristen Chin, and their son, Jack, 2, in New York’s West Village. While there are many specialty cocktails to savor while ringing in the New Year — as Hilary Swank, Carmen Electra and Sean “Diddy” Combs know — Nigel is a traditionalist when it comes to the biggest night of the year.

At the premiere of her new film, P.S. I Love You, Hilary Swank enjoyed this Mount Gay Rum drink.

“I’m here to declare that Ciroc vodka is the official vodka of New Year’s Eve,” Diddy says.

Carmen loves Pama Pomegranate Liqueur. So does Joey Fatone, who had it at NYC’s Southern Hospitality.

Egg-Nogtini (makes 1)

Make fresh eggnog or buy it already prepared.

Gently stir
1½ oz. Mount Gay Eclipse Rum into 1 cup cold eggnog. Garnish with nutmeg.

The Diddy (makes 1)

2 oz. Ciroc vodka
1 oz. cranberry juice
Splash orange juice

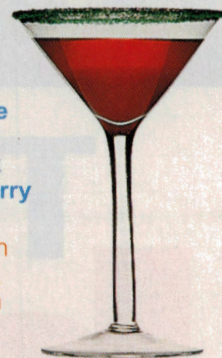

Serve over ice in a rocks glass with lemon slice.

Magnolia (makes 1)

1 oz. Pama Pomegranate
½ oz. vodka
1 tsp. sour mix
Splash cranberry juice

Shake it all with ice; strain into glass. Top with club soda.

Year's Eve

Audrina, 22, and Tyson attended a Maxim magazine party in LA on November 6.

10

Audrina's cure for Justin "Bobby"

The Hills star Audrina Patridge was heartbroken when Justin "Bobby" Brescia kissed another girl in front of her, but she found a new guy to ease the pain — 20-year-old model Tyson Paige! After the split with Justin, Audrina appeared at LA clubs with the Abercrombie & Fitch stud by her side — but it didn't last. "He's a really nice, sweet guy," she tells In Touch. "But then he went to New York and we kind of lost contact."

"Tyson is an absolute sweetheart — down-to-earth and intelligent," says a friend.

No more bad boys for Kate: James is said to be a really nice guy.

They date the hottest male models

These stars like to have eye candy on their arms!

James healed Kate

Kate Bosworth lost her curves when her romance with Orlando Bloom went bust in September 2006. But when the 24-year-old met British-born hottie James Rousseau, 27, she regained her figure. "I don't think being set up works," Kate says. "I'm big into fate." Since being spotted at New York's fashion week in October 2006, the gorgeous couple has been enjoying each other's company all around the globe.

James has posed for Hugo Boss and Yves Saint Laurent.

Selma's pinup boy was "Toxic"

Three months after her divorce from Ahmet Zappa was finalized in November 2006, actress Selma Blair fell for 28-year-old model Matthew Felker, who's best known for locking lips with Britney Spears in her 2003 "Toxic" video. Selma and Matthew were often spotted together around LA with her dog Wink, but recently the two split. Since the breakup, Selma, 35, has said that she's looking for a nice guy "who makes me feel good, if you know what I mean" — insinuating that Matthew may be better at making Zoolander faces than cuddling!

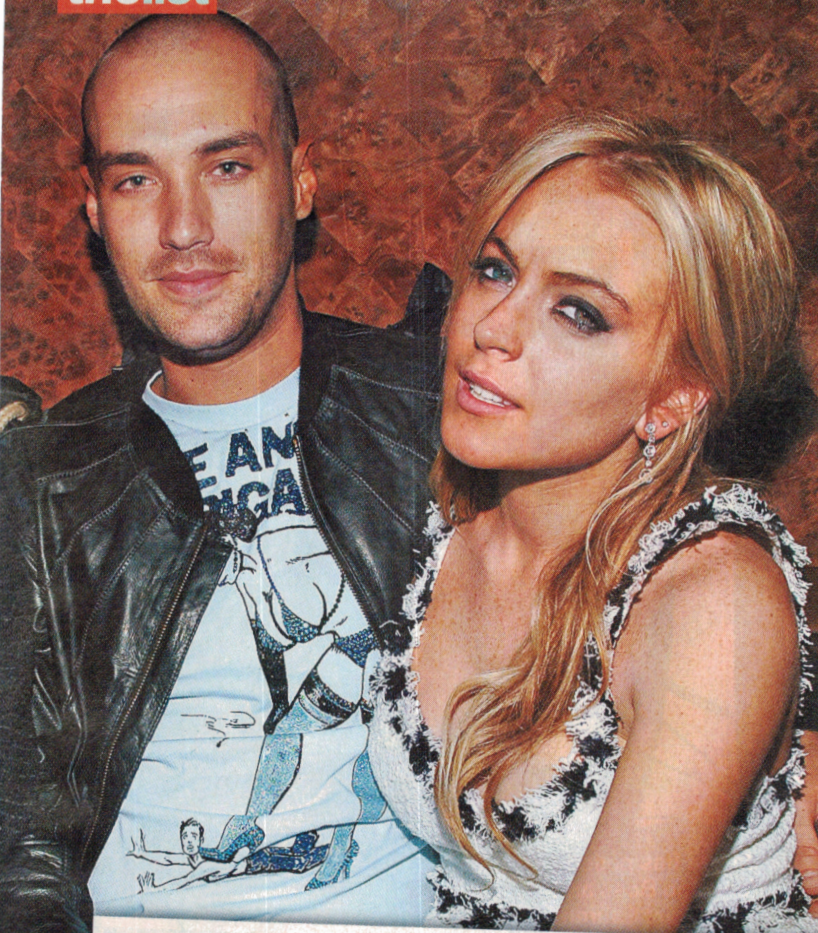

Matthew is rumored to be the next face of Guess.

He's also shot ads for Häagen-Dazs ice cream and had small roles on TV.

Matthew made out with Britney Spears in her "Toxic" video.

▲► Calum was photographed doing drugs with two hookers in May while dating Lindsay.

Lindsay's bloke was a bad boy

Calum Best is known as a player on the London party scene, but that didn't stop Lindsay Lohan from embarking on a two-month relationship with the British model and TV personality last summer. Perhaps it's no coincidence that after they broke up in July, Lindsay, 21, headed to Cirque Lodge in Utah for her third attempt at rehab. Even though Calum was trouble, the 26-year-old Calvin Klein and Armani model made quite an impression on Lindsay's mom, Dina. "He's a lovely guy," she said after meeting him. "If only I were 10 years younger!"

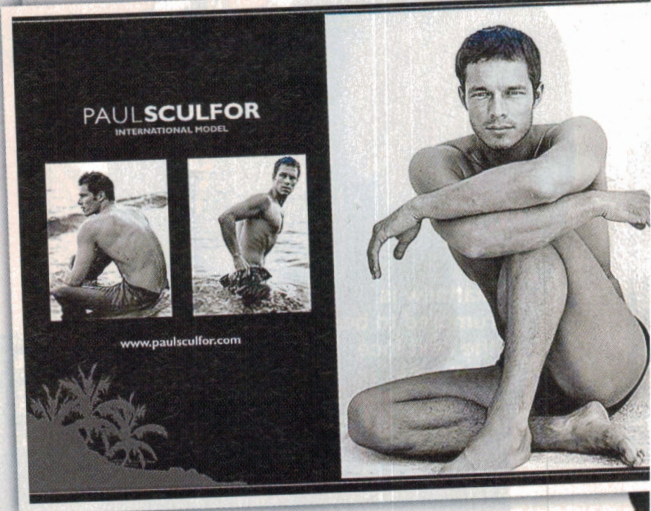

▲► Isaac has done TV ads for Payless ShoeSource, but after dating Britney, 26, he's "even more in demand," his agent says.

Paul was Jen's rebound

After more than a year together, Jennifer Aniston and Vince Vaughn split in fall 2006. But Jen discovered that dating a hot model was the best revenge! The 38-year-old was caught canoodling with British model Paul Sculfor at Santa Monica's One Pico restaurant this past Memorial Day weekend. Jen and Paul, 36, enjoyed a monthlong fling before going their separate ways in July. "It's hard keeping a girlfriend in this business," admits Paul. "You end up conducting your relationship on the phone."

Isaac dished about Britney

Since Britney Spears filed for divorce from Kevin Federline in November 2006, she's dated several hot guys, including Isaac Cohen, who has posed for McDonald's. Last January, the two partied in LA and even shacked up in a $40,000-a-night villa at the Palms in Las Vegas. Although his agent claims that Isaac, 26, is "a gentleman and respectful," he told the juicy details of their brief fling to the U.K.'s News of the World after they split. "She has an amazing body and I loved exploring every inch of it," Isaac bragged.

Paul is a former boxer and construction worker.

A-listers love Jamie

Jamie Burke has Hollywood's most beautiful women in the palm of his hand. The Calvin Klein jeans model dated Kate Moss in January 2006 — while he was reportedly seeing model Jessie Leonard, and then, Lindsay Lohan. Soon after, the 22-year-old Brit hooked up with Courtney Love before moving on to Sienna Miller. They split in June, but the long-haired hottie didn't stay single — he's most recently rumored to be dating Kid Rock's ex May Anderson!

Although Jamie has a wandering eye, he managed to date Sienna, 26, for four months.

Courtney Love — who's twice his age — said Jamie "makes me feel great!"

Calvin Klein

"It's nice to feel wanted, like you're being chased," Keira has said.

Natalie's perfect guy is "someone who pulls me up to high standards, and who is aware of what's going on in themselves and in the world."

Jamie models for Calvin Klein and Dior, and appeared in the 2006 movie Marie Antoinette.

Keira left a lasting impression on Jamie

Atonement star Keira Knightley officially broke up with Irish model and actor Jamie Dornan in 2005 after dating him for two years, but the 22-year-old actress is still a big part of his life. "I can't shake off the title of 'Keira Knightley's ex-boyfriend,'" Jamie, 25, says. "It frustrates me so much. People knew me in the fashion world before I started going out with Keira because I've done some good work, but it's proving so hard to lose the stigma that's attached."

"I fell into modeling," says Nathan. "It was money and I got to travel, which I love."

Natalie's man is also a mogul

Natalie Portman is intelligent (after all, she graduated from Harvard) and her boyfriend, Nathan Bogle, may be the U.K.'s "most smartest" model! Nathan, 33, used the money he earned on the runway to co-found the clothing company Rag & Bone in 2001. After just one year, sales topped $1 million! But that may not be enough to get Natalie, 26, to tie the knot. "I'm not convinced about marriage," she says. "Divorce is so easy... committing yourself to one person is sacred."

"He will be a wonderful father to our child," Halle says about Gabriel.

Halle is having Gabriel's baby

When Halle Berry shot a Versace ad in November 2005, hunky Canadian model Gabriel Aubry caught her eye. But Halle, 41, admits it wasn't love at first sight — she had to pursue him! "He was shy," Halle says. "He hardly talked to me at first." But the Things We Lost in the Fire star's persistence paid off, and she and Gabriel, 31, are now expecting their first child in early 2008. "She does pickles," Gabriel jokes about Halle's pregnancy cravings.

Gabriel's been featured in ads for Calvin Klein, Hugo Boss, Versace and Tommy Hilfiger.

Hollywood has found meaning for the New Year in Orka Mesica's stackable bracelets.

Lindsay Lohan sports multiple strands of the black beads, which were designed with a single gold circle to symbolize rebirth, success and creation. However, The Hills pals

Audrina Patridge and Lauren Conrad wear the wrist candy as friendship bracelets. Audrina says, "It's a reminder of all that Lauren and I share. Our friendship is about trust, love, loyalty and fun!" $115-$330, singer22.com.

Stars strike a pose

Perhaps the holistic ideas on Kate Walsh's show, Private Practice, resonate with her real-life goals for 2008. The actress has been tapping into her inner self while trying out Pilates poses on Beinjoy's decorative mats. Kate ordered the mats after discovering that they come with a compact cushion for additional padding and are made with eco-friendly materials. $100, beinjoy.com.

Jennifer Garner looks tall and lean in her Valentino dress because the color extends from her shoulders to the floor for a frame-lengthening effect.

The empire waist on Megan Fox's Armani dress is a style that flatters all shapes, while the beaded bodice elevates the very classic look from plain to pretty.

SERIOUSLY SEXY

The sheer panel detail on Heather Graham's Versace gown is a nice contrast to the flowing bottom half, since the sultry accent keeps the dress from looking too bridal.

Angel Sanchez, who has designed wedding dresses as well as red carpet gowns for Sandra Bullock and Eva Longoria, says a white dress is a surprisingly bold look that's always in style. Fine feathered friend

Funnyman Tom Green isn't cagey about his macaw, Rex Murphy

It was a spontaneous decision," Tom Green says about the day three years ago when he bought a bird. "She was in the lobby of the Birds Plus store in LA, just saying 'hi' to everybody," he tells In Touch. "Now we are like mates for life. But not in the literal sense of the word."

Of course, she is Tom's bird, so nothing is normal about Rex Murphy — starting with her name. The real Rex is a Canadian broadcaster who has dissed Tom's TV shows over the years. Tom got his revenge by naming his squawking pal after him.

The comedian says there are perks to owning a parrot. "You don't have to take it for walks. But you really need to be in charge with a bird — you can't let it get the upper hand," he says.

Tom has another warning: "Avocado is poisonous to them, but anything else is fine. Rex loves pizza and adores chicken, strangely enough. Cannibalistic tendencies, I guess," he laughs. "But mostly she eats fruit, seeds, peanuts and walnuts." It's a healthier diet than her owner's: "I live off Chef Boyardee ravioli and frozen burritos," Tom admits. "I know I'm not eating well when I find myself eating her fruit in the morning."

The brain-teasing number game that everyone loves to play!

There are nine sections of nine squares in each puzzle. The object of the game is to fill in all the blank spaces with numbers from 1 to 9. The numbers can be in any order, but there are a few catches:

- In each of the sections, no numbers can be repeated.
 - Numbers can't be repeated in each horizontal line of nine squares.
 - Numbers can't be repeated in each vertical line of nine squares.
- You solve the puzzle when you correctly fill in all of the squares.

THEIR SCARVES CAN DOUBLE AS JUMP ROPES!

Extra-long seems to be the season's hottest look

LINDSAY LOHAN

GROWING WARDROBE

Lindsay has a scarf drawer for her large collection of wraps, but if she wants to add more of these extra-long styles, she may need to construct a pashmina wing.

► ENDLESSLY TRENDY

Vanessa says she didn't plan to be a major celeb, but she's already mastered starlet street style — a giant designer bag, a jaunty fedora and a supersize scarf.

VICTORIA BECKHAM

VANESSA HUDGENS

◀ "KNIT"-WITTY

Her fashion advice tome is called That Extra Half an Inch, but Victoria went for a few extra feet when she picked out this outrageously long wrap.

MARY-KATE OLSEN

KELLY OSBOURNE

▲ FASHION VICTIM

As a lead in the musical Chicago in London, Kelly has probably been told to "break a leg" by her castmates. But if she trips up in this street-skimming scarf, she might really break one!

◀ LONG ON STYLE

Mary-Kate, who has designed several clothing lines with her sister Ashley, could create two scarfs from all the fabric in her Tolani wrap that measures a whopping 5'8" in length.

“ Matthew McConaughey injured himself while fight-training for an upcoming movie. The film is described as Fight Club, but even more shirt-hating.”

— Dan Hopper on

“ It’s like there’s one or two things the public knows about every famous person. With Ashlee Simpson, everyone knows she had a nose job. With me, everyone knows I wet my pants onstage... that sucks. You have to laugh.”

— Fergie has perspective on her infamous incident.

“ Riley: If you love something — set it free. If it doesn’t chase you down in a stolen SUV, it wasn’t yours and never will be.”

— The Soup’s Joel McHale, advising Riley Giles about his breakup with Lindsay Lohan

“ Ill-conceived pregnancy must run in the Spears family... At this point, I wouldn’t be surprised if K-Fed were the father of Jamie Lynn’s baby!”

— Alex Blagg on
